Midtown Atlanta

Enter the Scene

Enter the Scene

The best places in the world to work all share one thing: they understand the choreography of human experience. Proscenium gets right what a lot of office buildings don't — that the magic happens in the spaces between deep thought and light conversation, walking in ready for the day and walking meetings that clear your head. So we created a place designed to pull you to your desk and then away from it — to keep you moving between states: between the meetings and the deadlines, between the structure and the chaos, between the perfectly planned and the beautifully spontaneous.

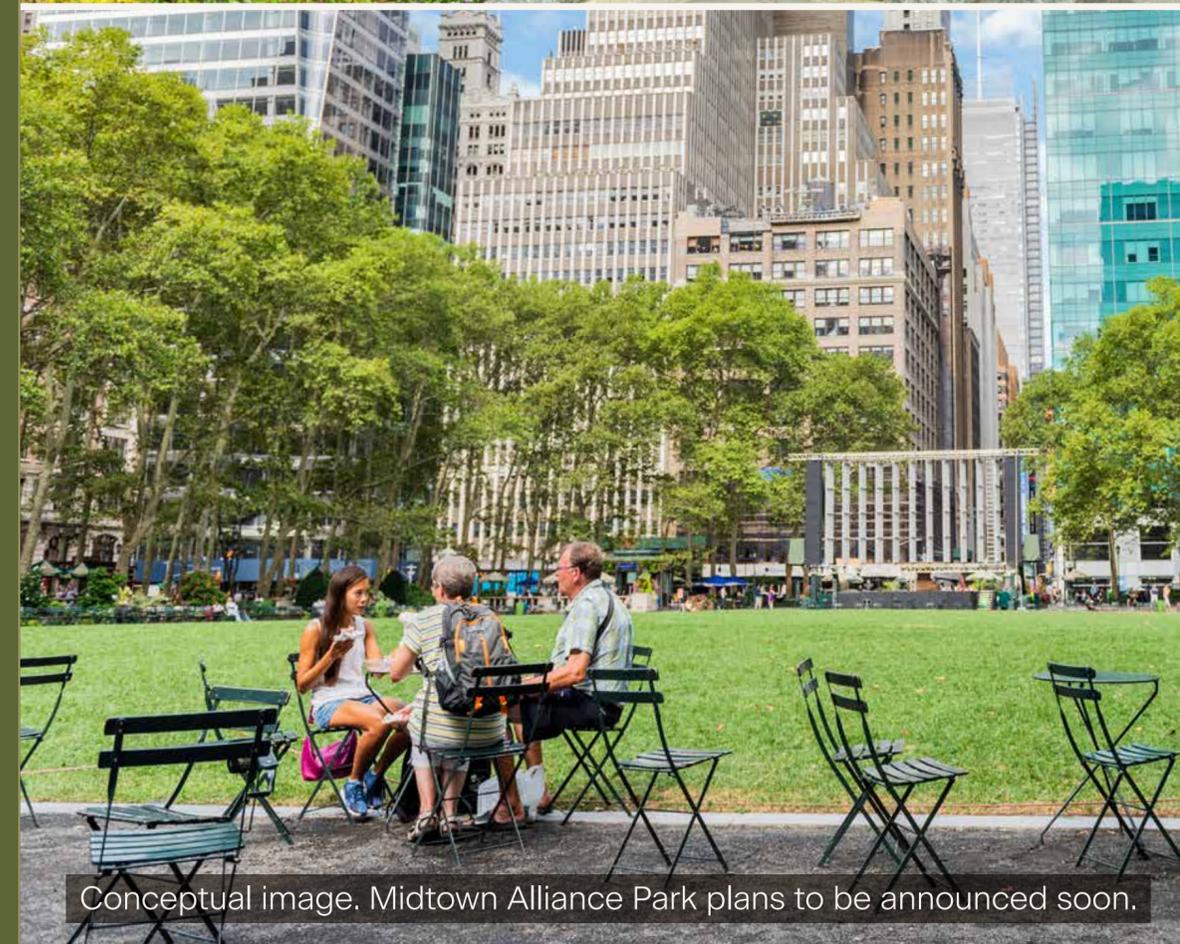

Standing right here, right now in Midtown's most electric moment, this isn't just another glass-and-steel monument to productivity. It's a sophisticated stage where work and life collide in the most interesting ways. Where every threshold is an invitation to transform and every transition a chance to step out, shed the old rules, and make your own.

Between every moment here lies infinite possibility. We just designed the doors.

Enter Midtown's Flow State

Proscenium sits at Midtown's beating heart, a place where easy interstate access and abundant parking lead to the city's most walkable streets. Get out of your car, cross the threshold, and suddenly you're in it—the energy of Atlanta's most accessible grid, complemented by Colony Square's dynamic food and fun just across the way and the planned 4 acre Midtown Alliance Park on 14th Street.

This isn't just location—it's workday liberation.

Inspiring Surroundings

Just outside Proscenium's doors (so close you might hear the applause), Woodruff Arts Center, The High Museum, and Atlanta Symphony beat as Midtown's cultural heart. Five minutes further by foot, Piedmont Park offers 185 acres for fitness and Beltline access. We think you'll agree, this isn't just an office—it's Atlanta's most creatively nurturing business district.

Where Function Follows Your Focus

Proscenium's interior landscape shifts with your needs, from state-of-the-art fitness to the daily ritual of the lobby coffee bar. Indoor-outdoor workspaces accommodate every mode while our conference center stands ready for bigger moments. Even our "14th Street Porch" transforms Midtown's energy into a vibrant backdrop—amenities designed for flow, not just function.
